COMMONWEALTH SCHOLARSHIP PLAN

Thirty-three Commonwealth Scholars now at the University testify to the rapid progress of a scheme which was established only 2½ years ago. The Scholars at Toronto come from 14 Commonwealth countries and are registered in 18 different courses.

In New Delhi this month, the second Commonwealth Education Conference will examine how the plan has worked to date. Chancellor F. C. A. Jeanneret will be one of the Canadian delegation, which is to be headed by the Hon. George Drew, High Commissioner to the United Kingdom. At the first conference at Oxford in July 1959, the Chancellor was Canada's senior academic delegate.

One of the key documents to be considered at New Delhi is the first annual report of the Commonwealth and Scholarship Plan, published last November for the period to March 31, 1961.

It shows that within the first year of operation, the Plan had achieved its founders' hopes that it would cover 1,000 Commonwealth Scholars and Fellows each year. By the end of the report period, 13 Commonwealth governments had promised to finance annually a total of 525 scholarships, each good for two years of study. The grants ranged from 250 awards sponsored by the United Kingdom to one from Malta. Canada agreed to underwrite 125 scholars each year.

The Commonwealth Scholarships are intended to provide opportunities for study overseas to promising young graduates who may be expected to make a significant contribution to life in their own countries on their return. They may also be for undergraduate study when facilities do not exist in the Scholar's homeland. The awards are arranged by separate bilateral agreements between Commonwealth governments.

A few countries also have established Commonwealth Visiting Fellowships for senior scholars of established reputation.

Of the 33 Commonwealth Scholars now registered at Toronto, 17 are in their second year here. Ten come from India. Four of the others come from New Zealand, three from Australia and from Ceylon, and two from each of Nigeria, Trinidad and the United Kingdom. The others come from Hong Kong, South Africa, Pakistan, Kenya, Malaya, Ghana and Barbados.

They are registered for courses in architecture, business administration, civil engineering, educational theory, electrical engineering, English, geography, geological sciences, German, history, law, mathematics, philosophy, physics, political economy, public health, social work and Spanish.

APPOINTMENT

President Bissell has announced the appointment of PROF. HARRY L. WELSH as chairman of the Department of Physics from July 1 next.

Dr. Welsh succeeds PROF. W. H. WATSON who has headed the department and the Computation Centre since 1950. Rapid growth of the Centre, which next summer will instal Canada's most powerful computer for scientific research, demands more of Dr. Watson's time. He will continue as a professor in the Department of Physics.

Prof. Welsh has won an international reputation for research in molecular physics since he graduated from Varsity in 1930. His studies have been particularly concerned with the structure of molecules and the interaction between molecules in gases under high pressure. He is co-inventor of an intense light source known to scientists around the world as the "Toronto lamp".

Last June, the Canadian Association of Physicists awarded Prof. Welsh its annual medal for achievement in physics.

NOTES

Administration

CHANCELLOR JEANNERET addressed the Chambre de Commerce de Montréal on Nov. 7, on the subject "Le rôle social de l'université et de l'universitaire dans la nation".

Arts and Science

PROF. J. D. FERNIE addressed the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, Montreal Centre on Dec. 14, on "Astronomy in South Africa".

PROF. RUTH J. NORTHCOTT addressed the Society's Hamilton Centre on Dec. 7 on "The International Astronomical Union".

Recent speakers at Department of Chemistry colloquia have been PROF. M. P. CAVA of Ohio State University, on "The Active Intermediates Related to Benzocyclobutene", and DR. J. ROČEK of Harvard University, on "The Chromic Acid Oxidation of Hydrocarbons".

PROF. A. G. HARRISON gave a talk on "The Tropylium Ion in Mass Spectrometry" to the Division of Applied Chemistry, National Research Council on Dec. 1.

MR. IAN BURTON attended an Ontario Water Resources Commission Conference on Nov. 23, on "Water Quality Control", and led a discussion on "Agricultural Water Needs". Mr. Burton presented a paper to the Pleistocene Discussion Group on Dec. 5 on "Flood Damage Reduction".

On Dec. 5, DR. M. MARMURA read a paper to the Oriental Club on the subject "Avicenna's Theory of Prophecy in the Light of Ash'arite Theology".

PROF. T. L. C. DAWSON has been elected president of the Southern Ontario Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

PROF. G. L. STAGG read a paper on "The Episodes in Don Quixote" to the Southern Ontario Chapter, American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese, on Nov. 18.

PROF. E. L. FACKENHEIM participated in a symposium in "Religious Responsibility for the Social Order" held under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, in Washington.

PROF. N. R. F. STEENBERG presented a paper on "Nuclear Scattering at High Energies" at the Eastern Regional meeting of the Theoretical Physics Division of the Canadian Association of Physicists, and also at a colloquium of the University of Ottawa in November.

PROF. A. BRADY received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the convocation for the installation of Dr. Corry as principal of Queen's University.

PROF. W. T. EASTERBROOK lectured on "Long Period Development" at the University of Alberta, in Edmonton.

DEAN H. I. MACDONALD addressed the annual meeting of the Canadian Tax Foundation in Montreal on Nov. 21 on "The New Trade Frontier: Canada and the Common Markets".

PROF. GEORGE MANDLER gave a lecture to the Psychology Colloquium, University of Rochester, on Nov. 10. His topic was "From Association to Structure".

DR. C. E. ATWOOD attended the Entomological Society of America's annual meeting held in Miami, Nov. 27-30. He also conferred with entomologists at the North Carolina State College at Raleigh, and in Washington, D.C. presented an invitation paper on "Some Aspects of the Biology of Diprionidae".

University College

PROF. ROBERT FINCH gave an illustrated lecture on "French Gardens" at the Art Gallery on Nov. 15, which was part of a series of special offerings preceding the exhibition "Héritage de France" to be held in Toronto early in 1962.

Victoria College

PRINCIPAL NORTHROP FRYE attended the Executive Council of the Modern Language Association of America and was chairman of a conference.

PROF. J. A. IRVING gave a lecture on "Values in a Changing World" at Ontario Agricultural College on Nov. 23.

Knox College

PROF. D. W. HAY was appointed by the World Council of Churches, meeting in Delhi, India, as the official representative of The Presbyterian Church in Canada to The Faith and Order Commission.

PROF. A. L. FARRIS has been awarded a faculty fellowship by the American Association of Theological Schools to study the writings of Theodore Beza in Geneva, Switzerland, from January until October, 1962.

Pharmacy

PROF. H. J. FULLER addressed the Hamilton Pharmaceutical Association on Nov. 27, on the topic "Prescription Pricing".

PROF. G. R. PATERSON gave a paper on "Examination Techniques in Historical Courses" at a seminar on "The Teaching of History of Pharmacy" sponsored by the University of Wisconsin last summer at which twenty-two universities were represented.

Applied Science and Engineering

PROF. D. G. ANDREWS took part in a panel discussion on radioactive contamination during the Conference on Water Quality Management at the Ontario Water Resources Commission, Nov. 21. He also attended the joint ANS-ASEE meeting on Nuclear Engineering Education at Denver, Dec. 4-6. Prof. Andrews addressed a combined branch meeting of the E.I.C. and C.I.C. at Chalk River, on "Simulated Reactor Behaviour with Mixed Fuels", Dec. 11.

PROF. R. E. JERVIS attended the International Conference on Modern Trends in Activation Analysis at Texas A. and M. College, Dec. 14-16, and presented a paper on "Activation Analysis in Forensic Investigation".

PROF. O. TRASS attended the 54th Annual Meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers in New York, Dec. 3-7, and visited the shock tube facilities at Princeton University.

DR. G. KANI gave two lectures at Queen's University, Nov. 27 on "The Analysis of Multi-Storey Frames", and on Dec. 4, "Electronic Computers and Structural Analysis".

PROF. W. C. WINEGARD gave a lecture on "Grain Growth" to the Metallurgy Division of A. D. Little, Inc., at Cambridge, Mass. on Dec. 11.

PROF. L. M. PIDGEON gave two lectures on "Vacuum Techniques in Non-Ferrous Metallurgy" for the American Society for Metals in Hamilton, on Nov. 30, and Dec. 7. He also gave a seminar on "Future Trends in Non-Ferrous Metallurgy" to the Department of Metallurgy, McMaster University, on Nov. 30.

A meeting of the Standing Committee on Extra-Mural Research of the D.R.B. was held at the Institute of Aerophysics on Nov. 30. This meeting was addressed by DR. G. N. PATTERSON on "The Administrative Structure and Research Program of the Institute of Aerophysics". Demonstrations of laboratory facilities were presented by the UTIA staff members.

PROF. B. ETKIN has been elected chairman of the N.R.C. Associate Committee on Aerodynamics for the year 1962. He gave a talk to the Oakville branch of the E.I.C. on Dec. 6, on the subject "Entry of Manned Spacecraft into Planetary Atmospheres".

DR. G. K. KORBACHER lectured on "A Review of the Concepts, Problems and Status of Ground Effect Machines (GEM's)" to the E.I.C., Hamilton Branch on Dec. 7.

PROF. E. D. POPPLETON attended a meeting of the Associate Committee on Aeronautical Structures and Materials of the N.R.C., in Toronto on Nov. 29-30.

MR. J. B. FRENCH attended the meeting of the Fluid Dynamics Division of the American Physical Society, and presented a paper entitled "The Langmuir Probe in a Flowing Low Density Plasma". He also visited various west coast laboratories and universities, Nov. 20-25.

PROF. J. L. YEN addressed the Buffalo-Niagara Section of the Institute of Radio Engineers on Oct. 25, on the subject "Very Large Phased Array Antennas".

DR. F. P. J. RIMROTT served as chairman of a Machine Design Session at the A.S.M.E. Winter Annual Meeting in New York, Nov. 27-30.

Hygiene

DR. DONALD M. McLEAN attended the 89th Annual Meeting of the American Public Health Association in Detroit, and presented a paper entitled "Encephalitis Observations in Northern Ontario" on Nov. 16, before the Epidemiology section. He subsequently visited LOBUND, University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Indiana, and conducted a seminar entitled "Encephalitis Investigations in Eastern Canada" on Nov. 17. Dr. McLean participated in a symposium on "Acute Viral Infections of the Upper Respiratory Tract" at a combined meeting of the Sections of Paediatrics with Preventive Medicine and Hygiene of the Toronto Academy of Medicine on Nov. 22.

Computation Centre

PROF. C. C. GOTLIEB presented a paper "Sorting on Computers" to the Syracuse Chapter of the Association for Computing Machinery, on Nov. 29.

Education

PROF. G. E. FLOWER chaired the group studying the new Ontario secondary school program at the Ontario Conference on Education, held in Windsor, Nov. 22-24. He served as consultant at the first meeting of directors of education from Canadian cities with population of 100,000 and up, Dec. 4-5. Prof. Flower also lectured at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. on Dec. 8 on "Toronto's Experiment in Metropolitan School Government".

PROF. H. M. FOWLER was speaker at the public meeting of the 1961 Conference of the Maritime Guidance Association on Oct. 13 in Amherst, N.S. on the topic, "Why Test?"

MR. G. A. KIRK was consultant to the group discussing the teaching of a second language at the Ontario Conference on Education. He spoke to the Modern Language teachers of district 26 OSSTF on "Reading in French", and demonstrated the teaching of poetry in French on the Ottawa secondary school teachers' professional improvement day.

PROF. C. E. PHILLIPS spoke on "Aims of Education" to the Ontario Conference on Education.

PROF. D. H. LEE addressed the general meeting of the National Concrete Products Association's annual Convention at Montebello, Quebec, on the subjects: "Recent Changes in Building Codes and their Influence on the Concrete Products Industry" and "A program of Research and Development in the Concrete Products Industry".

Nursing

MISS DOROTHY DIX participated in a panel during the Conference for Instructors and Head Nurses, Dec. 12 to 15, sponsored by the Canadian Nurses Association and the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario.

Dentistry

DR. C. H. M. WILLIAMS will speak at the Kent County Dental Society meeting in Chatham on Jan. 11.

A postgraduate course in Paedodontics will be held Jan. 8 and 9 under the general direction of PROF. S. A. MACGREGOR.

DR. D. B. MCADAM will speak at the Brant County Dental Society meeting in Bradford on Jan. 23.

DEAN R. G. ELLIS will attend a Workshop on "Dental Manpower and Auxiliary Personnel" to be held in Detroit, Jan. 15-19.

DR. J. D. PURVES will speak at the Bay of Quinte Dental Society meeting in Belleville on Jan. 24.

Law

PROF. A. S. ABEL gave a series of three lectures on "Administrative Discretion and the Law" from Dec. 12 to 14 for the course in Basic Public Administration conducted by the Civil Service Commission of Canada at Ottawa.

Royal Ontario Museum

MR. SCOTT SYMONS received the annual prize of the Montreal Men's Press Club for the best editorial or reporting series published by a Montreal newspaper during the year. The prize, a silver goblet, was presented to Mr. Symons by His Excellency the Governor-General, at a dinner at the Sheraton Mount Royal Hotel, on Nov. 18.

DR. E. A. MALEEV of the Palaeontological Museum of the Academy of Sciences, Moscow, spent a week in the Museum studying the dinosaur collection. He also discussed possibilities of an exchange of materials and literature.

DR. W. B. SCOTT attended the annual meetings of the Gulf and Caribbean Fisheries Institute at Miami Beach, Nov. 13-17. While in the area Dr. Scott visited Marineland, the Marine Laboratory and the Seaquarium on Virginia Key and the museum and zoology department of the University of Florida at Gainesville. Dr. Scott has been appointed a Fellow of the American Institute of Fishery Research Biologists.

DR. R. L. PETERSON has been invited to visit the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard University to take over and complete an unfinished research project dealing with Arctic mammals.

DR. G. B. WIGGINS attended the Entomological Society of America's annual meeting in Miami, and presented a paper outlining the results of recent studies on the adaptations of some of the aquatic insect groups inhabiting temporary ponds.

MR. J. L. BAILLIE attended the conference called by the Conservation Council of Ontario on Nov. 16 at the Royal Botanical Gardens, Hamilton, to discuss plans for the future recreational use of the Hamilton escarpment.

The Department of Vertebrate Palaeontology has received a fine skull of Nyctosaurus larvatus, from the Karoo of South Africa by Dr. C. T. Trechmann of Eden Castle, England. This is the first representative of the mammal-like reptiles in the Museum and will form the basis of a special exhibit.

The Etobicoke Historical Society has presented to the Museum a collection of mastodon bones from near Tupperville, Ontario. They have been dated by Carbon 14 and pollen analysis to prove the remarkably recent date of 6,300 years ago for the death of the animal.

The Brodie Club, oldest natural science organization in the Toronto region, celebrates its 40th anniversary on Nov. 21. MR. L. L. SNYDER chaired the meeting and DR. R. L. PETERSON gave the principal paper. MR. BAILLIE presented a review of the Club's history.

DR. W. M. TOVELL gave a paper on "Natural History of the Niagara Escarpment" at the meetings of the Conservation Council of Ontario at Hamilton.

Business

PROF. O. W. MAIN addressed the National Sales Executive Club of Toronto on "Schools of Business" on Nov. 27.

PROF. M. S. MOYER also gave a paper on "Trends in Canadian Wholesaling" to the Canadian Association of Advertising Agencies on Dec. 9.
